The Fish in Carson River Bequeathed to the One who Catches Them.

The following communication was received at this office from Dayton yesterday, and is self-explanatory:

Dayton January 13, 1891.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL:—I set myself down to say that the paper that I send you I found in a S reapparilla bottle in the Carson River and as I reckon you know those folks I thought to send the paper to you, so you might tell them I found it. I ain't no fisherman or I would have kept the document to prove my right to what I catch, but let you have the bequest with my compliments—Your Friend

EZIK NILSON.

Following is the will:

Hope Valley, Aug. 1, 1890.

To whom it may concern.

We the undersigned assistants of the U. S. MISS GRACE DAVIS,

MISS CHERRIE BENDER,

MISS BLANCHE DAVIS,

MR. W. N. MERRILL,

MR. GEO. WAKEFIELD,

MASTER GEO. DAVIS,

For Sale.

There is at this office a rifle, of the style known as a Mississippi Yaeger; (it sounds as though that was the way to spell it,) which can be purchased at a great reduction; way below cost, in fact. The barrel is rusty, the ramrod is missing, the lock don't work good every time, the stock is scratched, and the sight are crooked, but otherwise it is in fairly good condition. It weighs only fifteen pounds, and is fifty one caliber, carrying an ounce of lead a good deal farther than anybody would be liable to carry the gun. It is especially adapted to quell Indian uprisings and by standing it up in a corner of the front yard surmounted by a yellow danger flag, is guaranteed to keep away tramps, unless they are blind. Parties desiring a bargain had better call and get prices before going elsewhere. No trouble to show goods. It has been named "The Suicide's Delight." j14, 1t

Took a Shot at 'Em

Sunday evening a number of boys amused themselves by throwing stones and chunks of ice at a Chinaman who drives a laundry wagon. He was turning up north from Carson street on E. and they were throwing down Carson street near C street. He got down from his wagon, pulled a huge revolver from his pocket, and taking deliberate aim, fired at the crowd of boys, which was then retreating pell-mell. Luckily for himself, as well as the boys, no one was struck, but it will probably be a few weeks before any member of that particular gang of boys will be so hard up for a little diversion as to engage in throwing stones at Chinamen. No arrests—Enterprise.

Good for the Chinaman; the only regret is that he wasn't a better shot.

Drummer Personals.

Indian Resolution.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade, held in Reno, Saturday last. Mr Kelly presented the following preamble and resolutions in compliance with a request of the Directors at a meeting held in the afternoon:

WHEREAS, The several tribes of Indians in Nevada, aggregating nearly as can be estimated at 10,000, two thirds of whom are not on the reservations and receive no annuities from the Government, are assuming a war-like attitude, frightening settlers and their families in the sparsely settled sections of the State, and

WHEREAS, There are no troops stationed within the State to intimidate the Indians or protect settlers, and

WHEREAS, Reno is centrally situated so that troops could be dispatched from that point in any direction in which an Indian outbreak would be likely to occur in the State, therefore be it

Resolved, By the Board of Trade, composed of representative citizens from all parts of the State, that our Senators and Representatives in Congress be earnestly requested to inform the War Department of the critical situation in which their constituents are placed, and make earnest effort to have the Department station at least three companies of troops at Reno at the earliest day possible, and that a military post be established at that point permanently.

On motion of Mr. Foley the Secretary was ordered to transmit a copy by telegraph to President Francis G. Newlands, who is in Washington, with a request that he give a copy thereof to each one of our representatives and urge upon them the importance of such a measure.
